About the summit

Vision & Legacy

The International Sustainability Summit 2026, building on the legacy of the former SHEQ Summit, represents a bold evolution in embedding sustainability into every dimension of organizational practice. Convened by ICSE, the Summit is a premier platform for advancing ESG leadership across business and institutional sectors. This year's theme – “From Ambition to Action” – emphasizes moving beyond commitments to tangible strategies that deliver resilience, equity, and long-term sustainable value. The Sustainability Summit Eswatini 2026 will convene government leaders, private sector executives, civil society, youth, and international partners to explore how national sustainability ambitions can be transformed into execution strategies that deliver resilience, measurable business value, and social impact. By bringing together regulators, investors, corporate leaders, and civil society, the summit fosters collaboration, drives innovation, and empowers industries to achieve tangible ESG impact.

Objective: The summit is designed to align industry with Eswatini's sustainability agenda, embedding SDGs, ESG frameworks, ISO systems, and NDC commitments, while fostering sector partnerships and unlocking green investments to drive resilience and measurable impact.
